Presbyter's Message

Greetings to you in the name of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Everybody wants to live long, but nobody wants to get old. Even though ageing cannot be avoided, people try to hide it. It's an instinct in man and women to stay and appear young. So many books and articles has been published by the secular press giving tips on maintaining youthfulness. They mostly talk about food habits, physical exercises and mental attitudes. It is the state of the inner man or woman that's reflected on the outside. Spirituality is the most important factor in enabling us to stay young.

Keep praising God for the past, present and future. Psalmist David sang in Psalm 103 about giving thanks to God for all that he has done for us.

We Christian recite the first two verses of this Psalm too often but we fail to realize that a spirit of praise and thanksgiving reminds us how God himself is interested in the renewal of our youthfulness. Give no place to complaining or murmuring. When you “forget” God’s benefits, you dump yourself in depressions and die of self sympathy.

When we rejoice in the God of our salvation, our mind slips into a state of happiness. Medical science confirms that happy people in general are healthy people. We all need to read 103rd Psalm as often as possible. It is like our autobiography. It speaks about father, children, generations, life span, covenant, etc. All these are subjects of interest for those growing old. Let us therefore remember:

Count your blessing- instead of your crosses

Count your gains- instead of your losses

Count your health- instead of your wealth

Count on God - instead of yourself
